What are the Rainforest Layers?

By Amber Fitzgerald-Woolfe

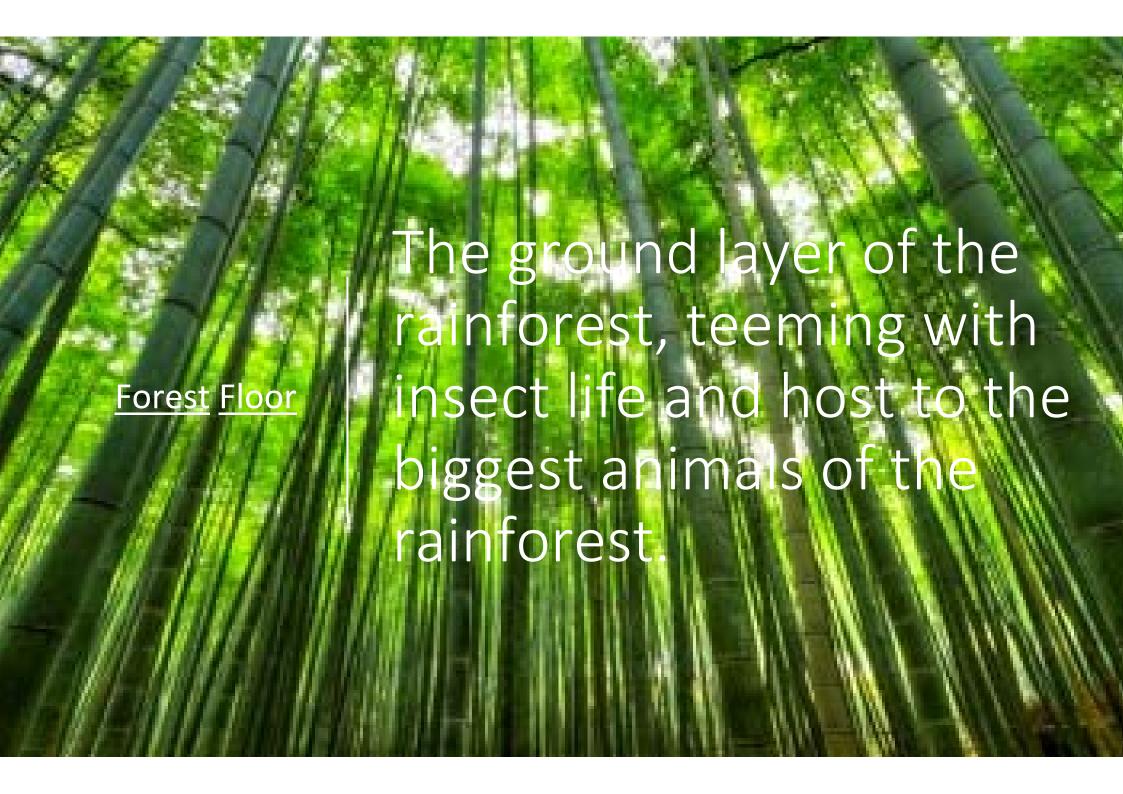

Canopy

The upper level of the trees (leaves and upper limbs) that form the cover over the lower layers. Full of life, this layer is home to many insects, birds, reptiles and mammals.

Thank you for watching my PowerPoint.

